INSPIRING EVENT WILL FEATURE 50 ADAPTIVE GOLFERS AND A COMPLEMENT OF NATIONALLY RENOWNED ADAPTIVE GOLF COACHES

GRAND BLANC, Mich. – The Ally Challenge presented by McLaren announced today the details surrounding the tournament's McLaren Adaptive Golf Clinic on Monday, August 18 at Warwick Hills Golf & Country Club from 9 a.m. to noon on the driving range.

Together with McLaren Health Care and the McLaren Flint Foundation, the tournament has once again teamed up with the U.S. Adaptive Golf Alliance (USAGA) to put on a clinic featuring trained adaptive golf coaches providing instruction to a group of 50 adaptive golfers using a wide array of adaptive golf equipment. Attendees will range in age and are recruited from McLaren Health Care's patient base as well as through USAGA, organizations such as Rehab Without Walls, and word-of-mouth. The Clinic features an atmosphere of camaraderie and support in underscoring this growing initiative in adaptive sports.

Adaptive golf is a rising movement in golf to continue to grow the game and provide people with physical disabilities the tools and training to enjoy the game.

There is limited space available for participants in the 2025 McLaren Adaptive Golf Clinic. For more information about the Clinic, including how to participate, please contact Tracy Ramin at tracyramin@yahoo.com or Laurie Prochazka at laurie.prochazka@mcclaren.org.

"The McLaren Adaptive Golf Clinic clearly underscores the power of golf to bring people of diverse abilities, motivation, ages and backgrounds together for a common purpose," said Laurie Prochazka, vice president of community partnerships for McLaren Health Care. "McLaren is very proud to be on the forefront of building awareness of adaptive golf as a growing movement in the sport. We appreciate the support of our valued partners, including Ottobock, Aon, the George Wilkinson Family Fund and the Ridgway and Shannon White Fund of the Community Foundation of Greater Flint, in allowing us to expand the Clinic to reach even more people this year."
